BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

—AND—

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make A TIGHT LOCK-STITCH, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk, directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer; should stitch, fell, run and gather; and always ready to work.

It should be capable of doing the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, n r ravel.

"Rascality of Republican Officials."

Congress and the Government have been at work, and will continue their efforts, to ascertain all cases in which wrong has been done to the Nation by unprincipled public contractors. Under the emergencies brought upon the Nation by the rebellion, doubtless many cases occurred in which government was swindled by designing men. It has been so in all governments. The history of the "swindles" that have been practiced upon our government, reaches through its whole existence. They were practiced in time of peace, when, if ever, they could have been successfully prevented. The official term of President Buchanan is full of them. In the period in which our government remained disorganized by the labors of the Buchanan Democracy, and in which time the most herculean efforts were made by the government to consolidate its power, and place it in a condition to sustain itself, an opportunity was presented for unprincipled men to swindle government in contracts. Every measure possible has been adopted to ferret out these rascalities. Probably some of these men may succeed—as just such men have done in all time—in robbing the government with entire immunity from punishment. But will any man believe what the traitor press would insinuate, that the men upon whom devolve the fearful duty of putting down the rebellion, are wilfully conniving at the robbery of the country they have sworn to defend? Will it be believed that there is any one in the Cabinet so lost to shame and honor—so wedded to crime and infamy—as to consort with thieves and assist in destroying the government? Do these men care nothing for their good name? Do they care nothing what the country—what the present age—what prosterity—shall say of them? Are they willing, for the sake of personal advancement, to go down to history with a fame blacker than that of Nero? Suppose they should sacrifice their country for private gain; are they such fools as to think such gain would avail them? Would they not know that their lives, much less their property, would be safe an hour when an indignant people discovered how foully they had been betrayed?

We believe, on the contrary, the heads of government are doing their very best to crush out the conspiracy that threatens the life of the Republic. We believe that they seek the public good rather than personal gain. We believe that their hands are clean of all bargains by which the public Treasury is robbed. And we believe, further, that many of these men who profess to have a horror of swindling the government, would be glad if every dollar was carried off from the public Treasury by the swindlers, leaving it in the condition in which it was found when left by the administration of James Buchanan.

Judge Wait desires us to state that he does not regret having signed the call for a (Breckinridge) Democratic State Convention.

THE MINES.

We give extracts of letters from the Salmon river mines.

Mr. D. Wright writes from Salmon river, Jan. 30th:

"I have been in town four weeks, and have made up my mind that this is the coldest place I ever was in. The snow is six feet deep on the level. I believe this is the richest mining country ever known. There are men here who expect to make their hundreds of thousands the coming season. Miners who came here last Fall, took claims, and left them for the winter, have lost them. The following are the prices current of articles in the mines:

Flour, $1 per lb; coffee, $1 25; dried apples, $1 25; sugar, $1 25; candles, $3; bacon, $1 50; gum boots, $30; blankets, $30; long-handled shovels, $10@$16; spades, $16@$20; picks and axes, $10 each; camp kettles, large and small, $10; whisky—"played out."

Mr. H. W. Millard, of this city, anticipating a scarcity of provisions in the Salmon river mines, in company with several others, left there and came down to Walla Walla to wait until supplies could be taken in. He cautions all persons going into the mines to take an ample supply of provisions with them. In a letter he says: "The reason of my leaving the mines was that provisions were getting so scarce, on the 20th of February, that I felt sure there must be suffering before supplies could be got in; and my fears have already been verified, as I learn from men who left there twelve days behind me."

Mr. M. says that the weather had been extremely cold on Salmon river—the thermometer ranging from ten to thirty degrees below zero, and some of the time the mercury was frozen. He thinks the snow will not be gone before May.

Items.

There have been unusual rains within the last few months in Europe, on the Atlantic as well as Pacific coasts of the northern part of this continent, in Australia and in the Holy Land. It is said that the cisterns at Jerusalem have been filled as they have not been for the last two hundred years.

In a village in France, lately, an inn keeper died. He was laid out in a fine sheet and placed in a coffin. The widow thought to save the sheet, and substituted for it one of the comic costumes of a company of comedians, which happened to be in the house. Suddenly a strange noise was heard in the coffin: it was opened, and out sprang the husband arrayed in the costume of the harlequin! —Paris Papers.

REBEL TEACHERS DISMISSED.—The City Council of Baltimore have passed a resolution ordering all disloyal teachers in the public schools to be dismissed, and Union teachers put in their place.

Hon. S. G. Haven, law partner of Ex-President Fillmore, died in Buffalo, on the 14th of December.

The Illinois soldiers appear to have borne the brunt of the battle at Fort Donelson.

The Richmond Enquirer thinks it absolutely necessary, in order to sustain the Confederate cause, that Cincinnati should be menaced by 100,000 men.

One farmer in Adams county, Ill., the last season made over a ton of sugar and some thousand gallons of molasses.

The latest exhibition of Southern Chivalry is found in the poisoning of food, left by runaway rebels in Missouri. Some forty Federals were poisoned, and one captain died.

Since Gen. Hallack has commenced levying taxes upon secession counties in Missouri, to raise money for the repair of roads and bridges, broken up by rebels, the Union element is found to be on the increase.

Mrs. Douglas, as guardian, has refused to send the sons of Senator Douglas South, to save their property there. She says, "if sent there, they would be compelled to take the oath of allegiance to the South. The last words of their father were—'obey the Constitution.' Better poverty and untarnished reputation, than riches acquired at the expense of honor."

Brigadier-General Ulysses S. Grant, who was chief in command of the forces in the reduction of Fort Donelson, was born in Ohio, and invested with his present commission on the 17th of May last, while a resident of Illinois. His appointment as Major-General, in prompt recognition of his invaluable services, has already (according to our advices) been sent to the United States Senate for confirmation.

Brigadier-General Charles F. Smith, who was first inside of the battlements of Fort Donelson, was born in Pennsylvania, breveted Colonel on the 20th August, 1847, commissioned Lieutenant-Colonel of the 10th Regiment of Infantry on the 3d March, 1855, and Brigadier-General on the 31st of August last.

Brigadier-General Samuel R. Curtis, who has probably captured the notorious rebel chief, Price, on in hot pursuit of him, and driven him over the border and planted the Stars and Stripes in Arkansas, was born in New York and commissioned Brigadier-General on the 17th May, 1861, while a resident of Iowa.

They are all graduates of the Military Academy at West Point, and have by their acts well repaid the Federal Government for the care and expense bestowed on their military education, although General Smith is the only one of the glorious trio who has been attached to the army continuously since graduating.

Bloody Battles and Union Successes.

We give news of the progress of the Union cause. The Great Anaconda is drawing closer its coils upon the traitors. Price is again whipped; the rebels are driven from New Madrid; beaten at Fort Craig; and the great rebel army has fled from Manassas. We refer to the news brought by the steamer, which will be found in this paper.

At the risk of being denounced as "worse than a traitor," by the traitorous Advertiser, we rejoice, and will rejoice, at the success of the Federal arms—and at the hastening of that glorious time when the Stars and Stripes will again wave over every portion of this Republic.

Consumption can be Cured.—A fair trial of Dr. Hall's BALSAM, will convince the most skeptical sufferer, that this medicine has no equal in the world for the cure of the different stages of this dreadful disease. Every CONSUMPTIVE ought to read the certificates of remarkable cures, and know its value.

How to go to the Mines.—Miners who now purpose going to Salmon River, Rhodes Creek, and the other mining regions, should not start out unprepared to travel through a cold and starved out country, for it is known by all who have come from above the Cascades that the country is now bare of all kinds of provisions, by its supplies having been cut off by the long stoppage of navigation. Therefore we would enjoin all who wish to go through comfortably, and return with their pockets full of "Rocks," to call at HARKER BROTHERS, opposite the Upper Wharf, and supply themselves with Flour, Bacon, Beans, Groceries, Blankets, Clothing, Rubber and Nailed Boots, and all other articles necessary for mining purposes, before they embark for the Land of Promise.

Bob o' Link

BY FITZ-JAMES O'BRIEN

(Concluded)

His eyes wandered timidly toward the house behind the maples, as if he expected some ap parition to start from thence on the very in stant

"Cousin Alice," he repeated vaguely; "Well she's—Cousin Alice"

"Excessively explanatory," I said, laugh ing "Is Cousin Alice young?"

"My age,"

"Is she pretty?"

One deep, reproachful look of those large blue eyes told me all Poor fellow, there he lay maimed, useless, passing his days and evenings in the presence of some beautiful creature whom he could never hope to possess, but loving her with all that concentrated in tensity which belongs to the passions of the deformed

He seemed to know what was passing in my mind, for, without a word from me he con tinued:

"She is engaged to Ralph Farnwell, who lives down yonder She is very fond of him, and he of her It is they who bring me down between them to this place every fine day, and I sit here with Bob while they go off and pick nuts, and—and "

And here the picture was too much for him, and the poor fellow burst into tears

No wonder To have his misfortune parad ed, through necessity, before the woman he loved—to be carried about like a piece of fur niture by her and his rival How often that poor heart must have been smitten bitterly! How often those crippled limbs thrilled with agony!

I took his hand in mine, but did not say a word There are times when consolation is cruel It was better than all words to let him feel, by the pressure of my hand, that he had found a friend We sat this way for some time, until I was aroused from a painful re verie into which I had fallen, by a long, black shadow being projected across the spot in which we were sitting I looked up and saw a tall, handsome young man, with bronzed cheeks and curly chesnut hair, on whose arms was hanging an exceedingly lovely young girl, whose face was a perfect treasury of archness and innocence They looked rather surprised at seeing me, but I explained how it was that I came to be there, and they seemed satisfied

"Harry, isn't it time to come home?" said the young girl "Ralph and I are come for you"

"Thank you, Alice, but I'd like to stay an hour longer The day is so bright and sunny that it is a shame to be in doors. You don't want to go home yet?" And he looked at Ralph as he said this with a bitter expression of countenance that, perhaps I alone observ ed, but which seemed to say "It will give you an hour more to wander together. Of course you don't want to go home"

"Well, as you please, Harry. Ralph and I will go off to the pond in the cedar grove, and come back in about an hour But I say, Harry, look here—isn't this pretty?" as she spoke she held out a little box for his in spection

He opened it and displayed a pretty little ring set with garnets While he looked at it Alice stooped over, and, with a blush, whis pered something into his ear, which made him, to my keener sight, quiver in all that part of him that was alive It was but momentary, however, for he restored the box, saying cold ly "Well, I wish you both every happiness. You will find me here when you return."

As they walked slowly away, he followed them with his eyes, then he turned to me.

"They are to be married next Sunday," he said

I felt all the meaning of his words I pitied him Solitude is a need to him at this mo ment—I will leave him As I pulled out my watch and prepared for my departure, he said to me

"I am exceedingly obliged to you, sir, for your company but I want you to do me one more favor before you leave You are strong and I am light Please take me to the giant's chair I love to sit upon it and dip my hand in the salt wash of the sea"

"But are you not afraid of slipping and fall ing in?" I asked, for the giant's chair was a fantastically shaped rock a few hundred yards down the beach, around whose rugged base the sea, at high tide, washed clamorously

"Oh, no!" he answered, "there is a cleft in it where I sit quite safely And when Ralph and Alice come to look for me I can easily shout to them from where I am Do take me, sir, if you please"

Of course I obeyed his wishes I lifted him in my arms, and, with Bob flying alongside of us, carried him down to the huge old rock which was regally draped in the rich brown tapestry of the sea I found a comfortable, dry cleft, in which I stowed him away, and with a promise to come and see him the fol lowing day, I left him, with Bob chattering away on his shoulder, gazing dreamily across at the Connecticut shore

About an hour and three-quarters after this, I was strolling down the road smoking my afterdinner cigar, when I heard hurried steps behind me, and the young man Ralph ran up pale and breathless.

"For God's sake, sir! where did you leave Harry?" he cried "We can't find him any where"

"Oh! you haven't looked on the giant's chair, then—I took him there. I left him snug and comfortable."

"But we have, sir We know how fond he was of sitting there, and when we missed him from the meadow, concluded that he had got you to carry him there But there's no sign of him, only the Bob o' Link flying wild ly over the spot where the rock dips into the water, and crying as if its heart would break."

"Not in the giant's chair!" I cried, with a sick feeling about my heart. "Good God! he has drowned himself"

"Drowned himself! Why, what for?"—asked Ralph, with the most unfeigned aston ishment

"He was in love with his Cousin Alice, and you are to marry her on next Sunday," was my only reply

The man was stunned. He saw it in an in stant All that secret and mysterious love which had racked the heart of the poor cripple, unknown to him or his betrothed, was now laid bare He groaned and buried his head in his hands

"This will kill Alice, sir," he said to me. "Come and help me break it to her."

My conjecture was correct About a week after this, the body of the poor paralytic was washed ashore some miles down the beach, holding with desperate clutch, in one hand, a little daguerreotype of his Cousin Alice

And Bob—he missed the accustomed hand. For days after his master's death he used to fly down to the old place in the meadow, and hover around there, waiting for him who nev er more would come This lasted for about a fortnight, when one day Ralph, in passing by, found the poor bird dead in the grass, which still bore the impress of his master's form —Knickerbocker.

To the Republicans of Oregon

The undersigned were instructed at the last State Convention to Convene the Republicans of the State at their next meeting at Eugene City.

Events that have transpired since the meeting of the last State Convention could not then be foreseen, and issues are now presented to the people, paramount to all issues that heretofore divided political parties

While we claim no right to dissolve the Republican organization, nor do we see any cause to recant any political [illegible] heretofore held by us, yet believing that the vital issue now before the people is the preservation or destruction of our institutions, we are unwilling to do anything to dissipate the Union sentiment in the coming canvass, and [illegible] have deemed it unwise to call a party [illegible] with a view to the support of a distinctively [illegible] ticket.

In taking this course, we have been guided by the example [illegible] of Republicans throughout the State, and an [illegible] desire on our part, to avoid any barrier to the [illegible] support of a Union ticket by the loyal support of those [illegible] without regard to former political differences

[illegible] verifies the fact that the Fathers of our common [illegible] supposed that they had cemented a perpetual Union; they are only traitors who have now attempted to [illegible] it; we therefore call upon one and all to the [illegible] of the priceless inheritance bequeathed to us by the [illegible] of this Republic. He that neglects, for any trivial cause at this time, to testify his devotion to our [illegible] to a government that has made us the most [illegible] and favored people on the face of the Globe, is not worthy the name of American citizen! We therefore [illegible] to the intelligence and patriotism of the loyal people of this State, to show by unanimity at the coming convention [illegible], their abhorrence of secession and treason, their love of country, its prosperity and perpetuity

We [illegible] recommend to the Republican [illegible] of the State, that without regard to party, they [illegible] in the coming canvass, heartily unite in nominating and supporting a ticket composed of Union men who [illegible] the test embraced in the call which is herewith published.

Of all diseases the first great cause,
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases—Self-Abuse Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures Gleet, Gravel Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness and free from mercury or balsam During fifteen years of practice in Europe the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued, from the jaws of death many thousands, who in the last stages of the above-mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury which, with the disease hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries the disease is entailed upon the children who are born with feeble constitutions and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering and consigning them to an early grave

Solitary use is another formidable enemy to health for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system—drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering, down to an untimely grave It destroys the nervous system rapidly wastes away the energies of life causes mental derangement prevents the proper development of the system disqualifies for marriage society business and all earthly happiness and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself With the full confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected and with the abandonment of ruinous practices my patients can be restored to robust vigorous health

Irregularities and all diseases of males and females treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures — Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the State Oregon and Washington Territory by patients communicating their symptoms by letter

All business correspondence strictly confidential Address DR L J CZAPKAY Medical Institute Sacramento street below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co's Office, San Francisco

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the pangs of disease who, having recovered their former health and impelled by gratitude to make known their cases and remedial agent, and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. The demands for publicity imperiously command their publicity and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr L J Czapkay for the permanent recovery of his health Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of uncontrolled passion in youth depressed in body and mind unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance—but alas! after a few weeks and in several instances, months, of their treatment, I found to my unutterable horror, that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their torture; and being told by one that my disease being principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence I despaired of ever regaining my health strength, and energy and as a last resort, and with but a faint hope, called upon Dr Czapkay who after examining my case prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, my head became clear and my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins the weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful exciting, but at times pleasurable dreams at night followed by involuntary discharges have all disappeared and in fact in two months after having consulted the doctor I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr Czapkay and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience that they under his care will find a permanent cure will be effected

MARYSVILLE, June 3d, 1860.

Dr L J Czapkay San Francisco—Sir I have used the last of your medicine and do not think I shall need any more and feel very well, except that I have not got my strength yet but soon will with the appetite I have It is just three weeks you may recollect since I called at your institute with my constitution, as I thought, be entirely and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin and the ulcers from my throat and the emissions which you said were principally the cause of my sickness I can hardly tell you which is the greatest my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength I feel as well as any man can feel

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured If you think any body will be benefited you may put this letter in the newspapers. Believe me gratefully yours

THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

CERTIFICATE —Prompted by an honest desire of my heart to bring before the public a case which deserves a commendation not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also About two years ago I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician I was frequently while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although insensible to the agonies I yet despised the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state and having, previous to my affliction, tasted the sweets of life I once more was induced to attempt a taking aid of a physician and, by recommendation, called upon Dr L J Czapkay I told him of my circumstances and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which I would he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God I was once more restored to perfect health I publicly thank God I am for the boon which I enjoy at present and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it but my duty that I am afflicted to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed
